HIS HONOR BELIEVES ALL SHOULD GO TO SCHOFIELD

Smoking a pipe a visitor once thoughtlessly left in his office, his feet on the desk embracing the telephone, his head resting against the wall, which made his position entirely comfortable, but a trifle insecure. Mayor J. J. Fern called on the press this morning to back him up in his suggestion that all business houses close May 6, the opening of the county fair at Schofield. He spoke warmly for a minute on the subject, then relapsed into a deep reverie from which even the strength of the pipe could not arouse him. But he did the subject justice while he was on it; he said this:

"All stores ought to close Wednesday."

ROBERT W. CATHCART 'CITIZEN'S PARTY' CANDIDATE FOR MAYORALTY

Comes now Robert W. Cathcart, clerk of the city and county engineer's office, and with advances to the new Hawaiian political party, offers himself as a candidate for mayor.

This new political party, which has assumed the name of the Citizens' party, and boasts of 2500 members, has been holding weekly meetings for some time, and at the last one, which was held Sunday, Cathcart is credited with laying his offer before E. K. Kahaulililo, who stands at the head of the organization.

But, according to the story passing through political circles today, Cath-cart's offer was not exactly accepted. Kahaulililo is said to have frowned at the suggestion, and with touching irony, offered him the job of chief of the fire department. After which he went about his business of working up enthusiasm for his Citizens' party.

Next Sunday an important meeting of the Citizens' party is scheduled to be held. At that time a date, tentatively set for Saturday, will be decided on definitely for a mass meeting, when Hawaiians from all parts of the island are expected to appear and rally to the cause.

cluding the police officers for some time, was brought to the central station shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon, to await a thorough investigation of the case. The officers sought Kahookano at widely scattered sections of the city, the much-wanted man being discovered in hiding at a home on Parker lane. The woman who received severe cuts about the face and scalp is reported as recovering at the hospital.

of the average strength of the fifth cavalry in the enlisted grades, for that organization will get the bulk of the increase. The troops of the fifth averaged 60 men and as every man will get at least three dollars per month it will be seen that the sum will total not less than $30,000 for each year for that regiment alone, and the total time that the increase will apply was in the neighborhood of four years. In addition to the fifth the increase will be given to the second infantry for 17 months. The first field artillery also comes in and the greater portion of the coast artillery will also share in the melon cutting. Altogether a goodly number of sacks of the yellow boys will be required to go around when the special pay day shall arrive. It is not deemed probable that all of the increase will be immediately available since it is likely that the balances of appropriations for the fiscal years of 1908-09 and until 1911 is reached have long since been turned into the treasury.

Also remember that guests will be welcomed and that all table decorations must be completed this afternoon.

JUDGE CLEMONS RECIPIENT OF TWO APOLOGIES

once," answered McBride. "I accept the apology," said the judge, "and still I must say that if any more such statements are made, I will have to take a course that will not be pleasant."

McBride then took the opportunity to inform the court that he repented the language he used yesterday, and promised to be more temperate in future. "I may say now, that during the last few weeks I have used language that, in the whole twenty-five years of practice before coming to Hawaii, I never had occasion to use. Some attorneys here—they are few, I am glad to say—have caused me to say things which I regret. On some attorney's backs, however, remarks run off like water from a duck's back."

There were fireworks in the air this morning at the federal court when the Sylvester conspiracy trial was continued before Judge Clemons. There was a good audience present to listen to the case and great interest was taken in it.

The first witness this morning was Mrs. Freitas and she was subjected to a severe cross examination by Attorney McBride. The woman admitted that she, other women, a ten year old boy and a small girl, had partaken of the contents of a whiskey bottle. She said that on feast days the whole family was in the habit of drinking liquor. McBride showed great curiosity as to the drinking bouts, and then got the woman to swear that she had left the little girl at the Sylvester's house on the night on which the alleged outrage happened. Mrs. Freitas swore that she was requested three or four times to leave the girl at the house for the night. She declared that it was of her own will and accord that the girl was left by her.

The case this morning was volcanic in nature and it was never certain when an outbreak would occur. At one time McBride said that there had been so many cases in connection with the matter that he did not know, sometimes, what case was being tried. This rally, which was taken seriously by McBride, brought forth the remark from the district attorney that: "If McBride does not know what case is being tried, then we had better get an attorney who does."

Attorney Thompson, who is assisting McBride in the case, got to his feet once and started to say something, which evidently would not come without long delay. McBride took the opportunity of remarking that he wished one attorney only on the other side would speak at a time.

Things were on the jump all the time and the case shows every promise of becoming an exciting one—as to the attorneys, despite Mr. McBride's statement.

but the sums due in 1911 and 1912 may be immediately in hand and those for earlier years will have to be appropriated by Congress.

and cotton will go up and stocks take a jump.

MERE MALE IS ROBBED OF KISS BY ARMED GIRL

(By Latest Mail)

LOS ANGELES—Held up and kissed by a fair highway girl, was the startling experience reported to the police by a citizen, who became embarrassed and fled, without giving his name, when some one giggled.

"I was walking along Central avenue about midnight," the citizen reported, "when a tiny girl in man's clothing stuck a gun in my face. I stuck up my hands, but she did not find any money when she searched me, so she kissed me and told me to run along home and tell my wife about it."

Ten minutes later James O'Hara reported that he, too, had been held up in the same block by a girl and robbed of $2.40 and a watch. The lady returned the watch and 40 cents, remarking that he might want a drink before going to bed.

MILITARY DAY A REGULAR AD CLUB SUCCESS

Service and Civilian Interests
Get Together Across the Luncheon Table

The army and the Ad club "got together" this noon over the festive board, in a way that will long be remembered with pleasure by those present. Cordial informality, the keynote of Ad club affairs, was in evidence, and with two generals and many other army officers as guests, the hand of fuller friendship was extended and heartily grasped between service and civilian representatives.

This week's meeting was in the nature of a grand rally for the County Fair at Schofield Barracks tomorrow, the affair at which it is expected that Honolulu and Lihue will be drawn closer together, and at which the army will play host to their friends in "cits." The Ad club has had a special invitation to be present in force, and to direct the celebration from the town side, and today's luncheon was a special army affair in consequence.

That the Ad Club will be represented, and well represented at that, in the County Fair festivities, became assured today, when plans for a pilgrimage of members to the highland post were ratified. The Ad Clubbers will form at the Young hotel at 12:15 tomorrow, in full regalia, and march to the O. R. & L. station, where a special train will take them to Schofield. Members who are planning to motor out have agreed to be in the line of march to the station, in order that the real Ad club example may prevail. The procession will be led by the Hawaiian band, which will accompany the trippers to Lihue.

Among those who fired a few volleys at the get-acquainted campaign were: Major-general W. H. Carter, commanding all the troops in Hawaii, Brigadier-general C. R. Edwards, commanding the 1st Hawaiian Brigade, Colonel W. C. Rafferty, commanding the Coast Defenses of Oahu, Major E. V. Smith, 3d Infantry, and members of the Ad Club.

Speaking of Hawaii, General Carter said: "We of the army realize that the Hawaiian islands are invaluable to us, and an awful thing to every other nation that might try to get to San Francisco without a pass. Hawaii is the safety spot of the Pacific Coast, and as long as we hold it no other nation on earth will dare to visit the coast without permission."

General Edwards made a well chosen talk on Hawaii, and the interest he had always felt in the islands, especially when as chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, a number of Hawaiian problems were submitted to him in an advisory capacity.

President Farrington kept the ball rolling all the time, and in all, military day at the Ad Club was a big success.

One of the chief features of the county fair at Schofield will be a baseball game between the 1st Infantry and the Coast Defense team. The game will be called sharply at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and gives every promise of being a close and keenly-contested affair. There will be no admission charged for this game.

The Ad Club, the Honolulu Merchants' Association and other local organizations are lending every effort to assist the army folk in making the fair a success. Everybody is the fair a success. Everybody is the fair a success. Everybody is the fair a success.

Following is the message which the Merchants' Association is sending its members:

"The merchants of Honolulu have shown their interest in the 'get-together' movement the army people have instituted in their county fair, and many will be represented by a 'branch store' there.

"In order to crown the whole affair with success, by a large attendance of business representatives and people from Honolulu, your directors unanimously recommend that you present your employees who wish to attend the fair, with a round trip and admission ticket, the whole cost of which will be only $1.00 each. Those who attend will be away only one-half a day, and by sending part on Wednesday and the rest on Friday, you will not be greatly inconvenienced by being left short-handed.

"Remember the spirit of the occasion is to get acquainted with our army friends on Oahu."

It has been announced that the Honolulu Elks have secured two special trains for Schofield, one of which will leave the O. R. & L. Co. station at 5:30 o'clock tomorrow evening, the other to follow shortly after. The Elks and their ladies have invited their friends to be passengers with them. The trip in the Elks' train will be 75 cents. The reception committee, of which Harry Murray is chairman, is arranging for lunch aboard the trains, and will see that the passengers are well cared for.

On motion of County Attorney W. H. Beers of Hawaii, S. S. Rolph, a Hilo attorney and referee in bankruptcy, was admitted to practice in the United States federal court by Judge Clemons this morning.

Yesterday afternoon a motion was filed by Attorney-general Stainback in the supreme court asking that he be allowed to amend a portion of his report in the McCarn matter. This motion will be heard in the supreme court tomorrow morning. The portion of the report that is amended now reads as follows: "Mr. McCarn acted in good faith and without malice." The paragraph in the original report read "Mr. McCarn did not act maliciously or in conscious bad faith."
